

CHARITY'S NAME MASK FOR FRAUD

Mrs. Helen De Long" Finally Landed in the Toils.

HAD CAREER IN SALT LAKE ARRESTED IN NEW YORK FOR
SWINDLING PUBLIC.

MEASURING UNDER the title of
"Mrs. Helen De Long," a woman "gutter," who is well known in the city of New York, charged with obtaining money under false pretenses, and the number of charges against her are numerous that it is likely she will not trouble the people of Zion in company with a younger woman, "Mrs. De Long" came to Salt Lake City about five years ago and established herself in a well known and respectable boarding house. They ar-

"Mrs. Helen De Long."

anged their things in the apartments assigned them and in a day or two sal-led forth. Their first place of visit was a printer's shop, where they obtained a large number of tickets for an entertainment to be given under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid society of the city for the benefit of orphan children. Armed with these they began a systematic tour of several office buildings of the city. Among those visited was that of S. H. Babcock, at that time general manager of the Rio Grande Western. Mr. Babcock did not recognize the pair as being residents of the city and he informed them that he would like to wait a day or so before purchasing. The women, however, promising to return after a time. Mr. Babcock confided his suspicions that they were not all right to a hotel reporter, who investigated the affair and discovered that the "Ladies' Aid society" knew nothing of the entertainment. In the meantime the women had called upon the law firm of Day & Street and attempted to solicit the services of the firm. They were successful but for the timely arrival of the reporter, who took the pair to task for being a pair of lumbags.
After dealing with the reporter, the women, who were dressed in the latest fashion, and in some confusion, and that night packed their trunks and left the city. The women, who were dressed in the latest fashion, and in some confusion, and that night packed their trunks and left the city. The women, who were dressed in the latest fashion, and in some confusion, and that night packed their trunks and left the city.

Succeeded in San Francisco.

It appears that the women went from here to the coast, securing a large amount of money in San Francisco.
Hundreds of dollars worth of tickets were sold for a benefit of a literary nature to be given for a founding's home, and great was the wall which went up when the fraud was discovered. It was too late to do anything, however, for the birds had flown, and as there was no one who cared particularly to prosecute them no search was made.

But, emboldened by her success, the De Long woman went to New York, where she assumed a bold stand. She solicited the assistance of several clergymen and, with their aid, organized and actually incorporated a society designated by the high sounding title of "Help and Hope" and then began her work.
Of course when the society was organized, the newspapers, believing it to be genuine on account of the eminent names connected with it, gave it liberal notice in prominent form. These articles, distributed around and round, secured a fairly good reputation as a philanthropic. She then began selling tickets, and soon a new and improved plan was evolved. The aid of children and ladies' girls, telling them that the governor of the state was interested in giving an entertainment and that the most tickets would be entitled to a gold watch, a present from Governor O'Connell himself. Actuated by a desire to see the watch the children worked their friends and one factory gave them $20 worth of tickets to her companions in the place where she lived.

Two Entertainments Billed.

The entertainment was divided into two classes. One at which high priced tickets were to be used was billed for the Waldorf-Astoria, where a reading by eminent persons was advertised for $250 per ticket, while the other which was to be held at Carnegie hall was to be a popular figure of 25 cents.
On the night of the entertainment a large crowd of people hid themselves in the places mentioned, but were controlled by the management of both, assuming them they had heard of the affairs of Mrs. De Long either.
Of course there was a "kick"—a kick one. The police were informed and they soon found the woman, who was taken before a magistrate and held in $1,000 bonds to answer.
It is said this is the second time she has failed in an attempt to hold entertainments in the city of New York, but she is believed to have made many dollars by her cute schemes.
At the present time she appears to be working alone, her companion who labored with her in the western field having no apparent connection with this latest episode.

The Angel's Business.

"The angel of death came flitting fifty years?"

MORTENSEN IS TAKEN TO COURT

Arraigned and Time For Pleading Set For Wednesday.

HAS A COMPLAINT TO MAKE
SAYS HIS HOUSE AT FOREST
DALE HAS BEEN LOOTED.

CONTRARY TO EXPECTATION.
Peter Mortensen did not enter a plea to the charge of murder pending against him when arraigned yesterday. He will make another appearance in court on Wednesday, when he will declare himself not guilty of the charge.
Through a strange combination of circumstances, Mortensen confronted brother of his counsel in the person of Judge Stewart yesterday. There is little chance of his being tried before that judge, however, the latter's sense of decency being expected to prevent him from sitting in the case when it came to trial.

There was quite a crowd assembled to witness the proceedings, but nothing took place to warrant the exhibition of curiosity. Mortensen himself appeared calm and collected. He listened to the accusation against him with calmly and when he returned to the county jail, paced his cell nervously.
There was no evidence of any change in his stolid front, however, and when asked concerning the situation, he uttered only a few words.

Mortensen and several other jail prisoners were conveyed to the city and county building in the patrol wagon under guard of Deputy Sheriff Baldwin and Busby. All enjoyed the opportunity to breathe the fresh air after their long confinement.

Had Little to Say.
Mortensen had little to say on the trip. When he reached the court room he encountered his father and shook hands cordially. A few moments later he was met by Bernard J. Stewart, of his counsel, and conversed earnestly with him until court convened. Attention was called to Mortensen's case by District Attorney Elmore, and the prisoner was summoned before the bench. County Clerk John James read the title of the information and, turning to the prisoner, asked:
"Is that your true name, Peter Mortensen?"

"It is."
"You will listen to the reading of the information against you," continued the county clerk, as he handed Mortensen a copy of the document.
This Mortensen took, folded carefully and placed in his coat pocket. He then listened to the legal description of the murder of James R. Hay with averted eyes. When it was over, Judge Stewart inquired if the prisoner was represented by counsel.

"Yes," responded Mortensen. In a clear, firm voice, "Stewart & Stewart."
"You will appear before this court on Wednesday morning next and enter your plea," Mortensen was told.
Mortensen turned away to the bench where his father sat and awaited the preparations for his return to the jail.
Handcuffed to an accused thief, he was arrived at the west entrance, where the patrol wagon was in waiting. The return to the jail was rapid and without incident.

House Looted Again.
"Same old story; I've nothing to say," laughed the accused man, upon his return to the county jail. The patrol wagon, but it isn't pleasant to face gaping crowds. All that worries me is the persistence with which people trespass upon my home. Once again it has been looted. An entrance was gained by tearing down some boards in the uncompleted part. Of course, I have no means of knowing just what was taken away, but it is certainly discouraging in the hope of preventing further depredations, my father is spending most of his time at the house.

PERSONAL EFFECTS SOLD.

Property of the Late President Snow is Auctioned Off.

An administrator's sale of the personal effects of the late President Snow was held yesterday, and the amount of $470 was realized for the estate, to be divided among the heirs.
The property sold consisted of the personal effects of the late president of the church, such as books, souvenirs, pictures and trinkets of various kinds.
Although not of any great value in themselves, each article was prized as a souvenir or memento, and accordingly commanded a good price.
The sale was held in the Progress building, in the office of O. G. Snow, the administrator of the estate. This property could not well be divided among the heirs, and by their consent it was auctioned off that that portion of the estate might be converted into cash.
The office was well filled with those who were glad of the chance to get some valuable souvenir, picture or book of the late president, and the bidding was lively. Nearly every article was disposed of.

MOBS PESTER THE CHINESE

Crowds Seek to Break Into Houses of Celestials.

CURIOSITY IS THE MOTIVE
THROGS WISH TO WATCH CELEBRATION OF NEW YEAR.

STRUGGLING through a labyrinth of stuffy mud, shouting, kicking and pounding at doors and windows, an army of solid appearing citizens made night hideous about Chinatown last evening. Disregarding the destruction of personal attire, and equally oblivious to the rights of the humble folk whose holiday they were turning into a nightmare, fashionably dressed men and women floundered through the mud and hovered about the unhealthy scenes of Plum alley.

The disorder began Friday night, when the Chinamen celebrating their new years were subjected to such indignities and annoyance that they appealed to Chief of Police Hilton for protection. Two officers were detailed yesterday to protect the denizens of Plum alley, despite the fact, every Chinese endeavor was kept in a state of siege by unbidden guests clamoring for admittance.

Society People "Slumming."

The Chinese holiday seemed to develop an uncanny interest in the minds of many otherwise staid persons, who immediately set forth "slumming." At 10 o'clock last night the narrow alley was in darkness, save where a shaft of light from the entrance to some "Chinese shop or eating house pierced the opaque atmosphere and emphasized the blackness elsewhere. Plum alley is almost entirely guillotine of sidewalks, and the mud is indescribable. Amid these surroundings, with the "ragtime" music of "Commercial street's" many dives mingling with the musical efforts of the Chinese celebrants, many respectable members of society were to be found.

A number of slumming parties visited the scene with the sanction of the Celestials, who received them as an act of courtesy to the police. Chief Hilton is reported to have entertained one party in that way, while Officer Davies was released from duty to act as conductor for another party of women. Charles Hunt, a member of the city council of Montpelier, Ida., also had his curiosity satisfied through the good offices of the police. Those who were not so fortunate as to be able to join these personally conducted tours camped upon the trail of the more favored and hung about, emulating the tactics of the small boys.

Chinamen Are Annoyed.

The Chinamen were both angry and to a degree, terrified. Friday night they had to bar all visitors because of the crush, breaking of windows and thefts of souvenirs. To prevent a repetition of the scenes they barred their doors and enjoyed themselves within their quarters.
Chin Q. Chang received a few visitors at his home, and those with acquaintances received similar courtesies at a few other places. The festivities will continue well into next week, if interference does not cause the Celestials to abandon their prolonged gala day.

Afraid of the Banks.

Odell, Neb., Feb. 8.—The sum of $2,700 has been stolen from Mrs. Scramble, a Bohemian widow, who lived north of this town. Several days ago she received the money in payment for a farm that she had sold. Being dis-trusting of banks, she put the money in a tin can which she placed beneath the floor of her chicken house. When Mrs. Scramble went to get it it was gone. Search is being made for the treasure, but no clue has been found.

REIPANS

I had been troubled a year, off and on, with constipation, biliousness and sick headaches.
Nothing seemed to do me any good. One day I read and asked me what the trouble was. When I told him he recommended Ripans Tablets. That evening I got a box, and after the second box I began to feel so much relief that I kept on with them. I have Ripans Tablets always in the house now and carry a package of them in my pocket.

INTERIOR OF CHIN Q. CHAN'S PLUM ALLEY HOME, SHOWING JOSS AND SPREAD OF CHINESE DAINTIES.—Flashlight by Fries Bros.

WOMAN TELLS TALE OF YOUTHFUL SIREN WHO HAS DESTROYED HAPPINESS OF HOME

Vainly seeking aid in her troubles, a woman who refuses to give her name quarters day after day in an effort to secure the arrest of the girl who has won the love of her husband and destroyed her home and happiness.
Each day she is told that the police are powerless to act in the case without the issuance of a warrant. This act she dreads for an arrest will mean a trial and the consequent exposure to public gossip of her private troubles and woes. And the arrest of the girl will necessarily be accompanied by the arrest of her husband in order to establish the truth of her charge.

According to the story of the woman, she has lived happily with her husband until six months ago when he became infatuated with the charms of a pretty 17-year-old girl who was employed in one of the fur stores of the city. A slave to her charms, he has deserted his wife and four children and spends his leisure hours in company with the fascinating girl. He still maintains the expense of his former home, so the woman asserts, but his visits have practically ceased and the care of the children rests upon her.

She called at headquarters yesterday thinking that she was fully determined to cause the arrest of the guilty couple, but her heart failed her and she promised to return Monday to swear to the complaint.

At the station she said:

"I dread the publicity that will follow an arrest and I don't want to arrest him, but I am, or thought I was, determined to do that she should be brought to justice today. But the step is more serious than I thought and if I have her arrested I am told that he and I will both have to appear in court.
"I will get even with the mean thing, though, if the whole family is dragged into the courts. He comes home occasionally and laughs in my face, thinking that I am powerless. I could secure a divorce, but that would not punish the vixen who has ruined my home and deprived my children of a father.
But I am sure that I will have the warrant issued Monday."

BROTHER ATTACKS SISTER AND SHE DEFENDS HERSELF WITH SKILLET

Frank Shay and his sister, Mrs. Nellie Manely, 429 West First South street, have lived together in harmony until last night when he accused her of stealing $4 from his vest pocket and she seized a skillet from the stove and sainly strove to land on his head. He beat the woman until her screams aroused the neighbors, who called the police. Shay is in the city jail with the charge of battery placed against him.

According to his story, Shay went home at 6 o'clock last night, took off his coat and vest, laid them on a chair and went after another drink. On his return he thought he missed the amount of $4 from his pocket and accused Mrs. Manely's son, Frank, of committing the theft. The boy protested his innocence and the mother took part in the argument. Words became too feeble a weapon to express her wrath and she seized a steaming hot skillet from the stove and made for her brother. He escaped and returned later after she had disarmed herself of the dangerous if unique weapon.

The woman's story differs somewhat from that of her brother, in that he accused her openly of stealing the money from him. She denied her guilt and he attacked her with his fists. Her screams finally brought neighbors to the scene and the police notified. The woman was brutally beaten on the breasts and her condition, while she is in no immediate danger, is considered serious.

Shay is said to have been drinking and will have a hearing Monday.

WAYNE BROWN'S FUNERAL.

Boy Killed by Street Car is Laid to Rest.

The funeral of Wayne Brown, who sustained fatal injuries in a collision with a street car while coasting a few evenings ago, was held yesterday afternoon at the family residence at 66 D street.

The house was filled to overflowing.
The little casket was literally buried beneath clusters of cut flowers.
The funeral services were conducted by Dr. William Paden, and music was furnished by the choir of the First Presbyterian church. Dr. Paden made a touching talk that caused heads to bow with sorrow and eyes to glisten with tears of sympathy for the heartbroken parents.

At the close of the services the family and immediate relatives only proceeded to Mt. Olivet cemetery, where the internment took place.

Burglar Queen's Title Smirched.

Tacoma, Wash., Feb. 8.—Reta Garner, a well-known variety actress, who has been styled "The Burglar Queen" in past circles, was acquitted today of the charge of receiving and aiding in the concealment of stolen goods. The jury was out about twenty minutes.

NO ARGUMENT NEEDED

Every Sufferer From Catarrh Knows that Salves, Lotions, Washes, Sprays and Douches Do
Not Cure.

Powders, lotions, salves, sprays and inhalers cannot really cure Catarrh, because this disease is a blood disease, and local applications, if they accomplish anything at all, simply give transient relief.

The catarrhal poison is in the blood and the mucous membrane of the nose, throat and trachea tries to relieve the system by secreting large quantities of mucus, the discharge sometimes closing up the nostrils, dropping into the throat, causing deafness by closing the Eustachian tubes, and after a time causing catarrh of the stomach or serious throat and lung troubles.

A remedy to really cure catarrh must be an internal remedy, which will cleanse the blood from catarrhal poison and remove the fever and congestion from the mucous membrane.

The best and most modern remedies for this purpose are antiseptics scientifically known as Eucalyptol, Guaiacol, Sanguinaria and Hydrastin, and while each of these have been successfully used separately, yet it has been difficult to get them all combined in one palatable, convenient and efficient form.

The manufacturers of the new catarrh cure, Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, have succeeded admirably in accomplishing this result. They are large, pleasant tasting lozenges, to be dissolved in the mouth, thus reaching every part of the mucous membrane of the throat and finally the stomach.

Unlike many catarrh remedies, Stuart's Catarrh Tablets contain no cocaine, opiate or any injurious drug whatever, and are equally beneficial for little children and adults.

Mr. C. R. Rembrandt of Rochester, N. Y., says: "I know of few people who have suffered as much as I from Catarrh of the head, throat and stomach. I used sprays, inhalers and powders for months at a time with only slight relief, and had no hope of cure.
I had not the means to make a change of climate, which seemed my only chance of cure."

"Last spring I read an account of some remarkable cures made by Stuart's Catarrh Tablets and promptly bought a 50-cent box from my druggist and obtained such positive benefit from that one package that I continued to use them daily until I now consider myself entirely free from the distressing annoyance of catarrh; my head is clear, my digestion all I could ask and my hearing, which had begun to fail as a result of the catarrh, has greatly improved upon it. I feel I can hear as well ever. They are a household necessity in my family."

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets are sold by druggists at 50 cents for comfort, treatment, and for convenience, safety and prompt results they are undoubtedly the long-looked for catarrh cure.
